

Visit Norway

Hei!

In this newsletter you will learn about

- Norwegian spaces
- Good behaviour in Norwegian nature
- Newly appointed Sustainable Destinations
- News from Bygdøy in Oslo, Norwegian Scenic Routes and on paddling, climbing and glamping

Your Visit Norway travel trade team

PS: Feedback to the newsletter is welcome. Send your comments to newsletter@visitnorway.com

Kayaking in Steigen, photo: Ronny Frimann - TravelStock

Welcome to Space

You might feel the need for more space. In Norway there is a lot of space. You will find your personal space, silent and exciting spaces, rural or city spaces or protected nature spaces. Walk, eat, cruise and sleep in space.

Take a deep breath, relax and recharge your batteries on a spacious holiday in Norway.

Find your space here

Visit Norway “Space” campaign information and material for free use

Is Norway on your destination list and you wish to promote your Norway tours a bit more? It might be useful to keep up with Visit Norway’s campaign activities on social media. Some of our campaign content is free for you to use when marketing Norway as a travel destination to your target groups.

Today we provide you with information and content of our ongoing “Space” campaign. Please use this link to find the content.

Let us know if this information and content is useful for your daily work. We are happy about a short note to newsletter@visitnorway.com.

Young moose in Andøya, photo: Ismaele Tortella, VisitNorway.com

Norway’s laws of nature

After being in home office for a long time now or having sat in front of our PCs and mobile screens for far too long, starting to travel, to socialize and to roam in nature might be challenging.

Let’s get a heads up on important house rules of Norway, to protect the valuable nature and wildlife. Get a recap on the right to roam, the hiking rules, and more important rules.

Thanks for sticking to them and welcome to Norway!

Learn about Norway's house rules

Photo: VisitNorway.com

Watch this video to learn the rules from the animals – they talk for themselves. Have fun watching!

Laws of nature video link.

Sustainable Destinations

Hiking in Valdres, photo: Visitnorway.com; Adventure capital Voss, photo: Asgeir Helgestad, VisitNorway.com; Folgefonna glacier Sunnhordland, photo: Kjartan Pettersen

Three more great destinations received a diploma from the labelling scheme for sustainable destinations in June.

Congratulations go out to Valdres, Voss and Sunnhordland!

Tiny tips

Oscarshaug, photo: Werner Harstad

Viking ships museum, photo: Tord Baklund / VisitOSLO

Bygdøy museum island in Oslo offer tourists world-class cultural experiences, easily accessible by boat, bus and bicycle from central Oslo. A new ferry route connects easily from and to the MUNCH pier. This summer you also have the last opportunity to experience the Viking ships at Bygdøy, before the museum closes for rebuilding on October 1, and opens as new world attraction in 2025/2026.

Two new modern buildings opened on Norway's popular Norwegian Scenic Routes. On one of these routes you will travel along Sognefjellet, where the new Oscarshaug viewpoint and picnic area opened July 1st. On the Lofoten Norwegian Scenic Route, a new modern service building at Moskenes ferry quay with fantastic view (without photo) opened already June 11th. God tur!

Photo: Tine Raisbæk, Kajakpaddling.no

Padleled Vestfold and Telemark - Norway's first, continuous paddle route will in 2021 expand routes to the Telemark coast and the Telemark canal. Paddle courses are offered all year round. Do you want to learn about how long this amazing route is?

Fosen Via Ferrata, Trøndelag, photo: Fosen Aktiv

Fosen Via Ferrata is a spectacular and newly established «climbing path», right in the center of Åfjord district in Trøndelag, on the mountain Mælanakken. The climb will give you a beautiful view on the way up and from the top of the mountain.

Lystang Glamping, Telemark; photo, Glamping Norge

Happy Glamping!
In May Lystang Glamping opened at the lake Heddalsvatnet in Telemark. There are no motorhomes, caravans or private tents, but a barbecue hut and two group tents for social gatherings.

Travel advice

Check for latest updates the Visit Norway Corona information page.

Look also for official updates on the websites of the Norwegian government, the Norwegian Directorate for Immigration and the Norwegian Institute of Public Health.

If this travel trade newsletter was forwarded to you and you loved it, you can subscribe to it here.

 Norway

visitnorway.com

Visit Norway, Akersgata 13, 0158 Oslo