

HOUSE OF EUROPEAN HISTORY

AUTUMN AGENDA 2023

Expert talk on fast fashion by Sandrine Counson

30.09 | 14:30 - 15:30 | EN, FR

The fashion sector is one of the most polluting, and in the space of a few decades, fast fashion has only amplified the phenomenon. In an attempt to curb this unrestrained consumption, the second-hand and reuse market appears to be the ideal alternative. But doesn't this market also have its flaws?

The event will take place at the Musée de la vie wallonne in Liège, Belgium, and will be webstreamed on the project's online platform.

Language: French, with simultaneous interpretation into English for the audience online

Endless resources? Roundtable on waste and circular economy

12.10 | 18:30 - 20:00 | EN, FR, GER

Recycling is one of the pillars of waste management in Europe today — but it is not a recent invention. How can we take a critical look at recycling, crossing historical and anthropological viewpoints and adopting a European perspective?

Guest speakers:

- Baptiste Monsaingeon - Sociologist
- Heike Weber - Historian
- Esra Tat - Zero Waste Europe executive director

The talk will be followed by a Q&A session and will be available for rewatching on YouTube.

Human attitude towards waste in our century - Expert talk on Environmental Activism by Urša Zgojznik

18.10 | 18:00 - 19:00 | EN, SLO

Urša Zgojznik, environmentalist and activist, will shed light on her work in Slovenian non-governmental organisation Ecologists Without Borders and in the field of environmental activism.

The talk will provide practical solutions on how to live in a more environmentally friendly way.

Throwaway documentary screenings

09.11 & 16.11 & 23.11 | 18:30 - 20:30 | EN

The House of European History is showing a series of documentaries to deep dive into the topics of the temporary exhibition "Throwaway - The history of a modern crisis".

- 09.11: Matter out of place (2022) - Nikolaus Geyrhalter
- 16.11: Plastic Fantastic (2023) - Isa Willinger
- 23.11: Les glaneurs et la glaneuse (2000) - Agnès Varda

The screenings will be accompanied by a guided tour and a historical contextualisation by one of the House of European History's curators, as well as a cinematographic contextualisation by documentary expert Frank Moens (programme director at DOCVILLE documentary festival).

The talk will be followed by a Q&A session and will be available for rewatching on YouTube.

Become a spy of European history - Kunstendag voor Kinderen
19.11 | 10:00 - 17:00 | NL, FR, EN, GER

Take a crash course together to master spying on European history with “The Daily Spy” – a museum trail full of activities, object highlights and historical stories.

“The Daily Spy” is a new museum trail designed for families to explore the House of European History together. There are two levels of difficulty available to suit everyone and they can be completed at the same time if the children in your group choose different levels to play.
